DECO HANGING BEADED WIRE W/ TILLANDSIA

This fanciful decoration can be placed beside a window or hung in a bright corner or well lit hallway, making it a versatile home accessory. We have several varieties of decorative hangers, each with its own color and faux crystal embellishment to add glam to the attached tillandsia. The hangers are about 6" tall and have one of the following plants attached: Abdita, Capitata Peach, Caput Medusae, Harrisii, and Tricolor (actual plant selected up to grower's choice and subject to change). Order 5 of this item to get one of each!

Note: stand does not come with the deco hangers

FAUX DRIFTWOOD PLANTER W/ TILLANDSIA MIX

Imagine a rustic planter that looks like a weathered wood but is actually made of durable resin that won't rot or crack. It is lightweight and easy to move around even when filled with plants. The containers come in different shapes and may vary in size, but generally they measure: 10.5" in length, between 6" - 8.25" in width, and about 3.75" in height (with plants, the height may exceed 8"). Total weight (with Tillandsia) is just under 1 lb. We attach the perfect 4-plant combination of Tillandsia to this container.

NAUTILUS SHELL WITH TILLANDSIA

Continuing with the theme of air and sea combinations, this product combines a Nautilus style shell with a 2 - 4 inch tillandsia to produce a lovely, eye-catching display! The shell itself is about 3 inches in length and has a stiff cord roughly 6 inches in length at the top for hanging it.

QUARTZ DESK HEART WITH AIR PLANT

Our eye-catching Desk Hearts show off an Air Plant in a decorative hanger suspended from a heart mounted on a quartz base. The quartz may be white or pink and is a natural piece of stone that will vary in size. On average this piece has a 4.75" length by 2.75" width, has a height of just over 5.5" and weighs about half a pound.

SELENITE PLANTER WITH AIR PLANT

Selenite, also called desert rose, is known to dispel negative energy and calm the mind. Selenite has a transparent to translucent color that allows light to pass through its crystal structure. This planter measures 3 ³/₈" in diameter, has a height of 3.25" (approximately 6" with plant) and has a total weight of about 1.75 lbs. (Plants based on grower's option and subject to change).

Note: The plant used for this item may be tinted a reddish color that is safe for the plant and imitates its natural bloom (please advise if you do NOT want us to use tint).

TILLANDSIA ASSORTED - SHELL MAGNETS

We affix one of our lovely air plants to one of nearly a dozen types of shells ranging in size from 1 – 2.5” in length at their longest point, then we attach a magnet to the shell container. The magnet allows you to attach this piece onto your refrigerator, filing cabinet, parts of your desk, a vehicle – basically anywhere you can think of that has a metal surface on it, giving you maximum display options for an already versatile product!

TILLANDSIA SHELL W/ PLANT

Our shell and tillandsia pairings are an unexpected but lovely match. We have a wide range of shells that come in a variety of shapes and sizes, and they range between 2.5 – 4 inches in length. Onto one of these we attach a 2 – 4 inch tillandsia (the selection of shell and air plant is strictly based on our grower's choice and subject to change). The end result makes for a delightful room accent and an easy conversation starter.

TILLANDSIA IN JELLY FISH SHELL

Air plants and sea shells make for the unique pairing of earth elements. This item combines one of our assorted seashells with a 3 – 7 inch tillandsia. The two may be geographically separated but their combination makes for a perfect interior or exterior coastal, nautical or beach themed display that is sure to capture someone's attention.

TILLANDSIA SEA URCHIN ONE STRING

One of our best-selling finished products, the Sea Urchin with Plant is a hang-able sea urchin shell with an attached tillandsia that extends upside down from it, creating the appearance of a jellyfish. We use a larger air plant ranging between 4 – 7 inches long to establish this look. Our sea urchin shells range from 3 – 3.5 inches in diameter and have a hard outer surface made from calcium carbonate, which makes them very sturdy and durable.

TILLANDSIA SHELL W/ PLANT

We affix one of our lovely air plants to one of nearly a dozen types of shells ranging in size from 1 – 2.5" in length at their longest point, then we attach a magnet to the shell container. The magnet allows you to attach this piece onto your refrigerator, filing cabinet, parts of your desk, a vehicle – basically anywhere you can think of that has a metal surface on it, giving you maximum display options for an already versatile product!

TILLANDSIA TILLY NECKLACE

Carry a living piece of nature with you with this adorable necklace holding one of our Ionantha air plants! The spherical container is about an inch in diameter, and the necklace itself is 1 foot long (2-foot circumference) and comes with a small chain that can extend it an additional 2 inches. This is the perfect gift for that outdoorsy friend or nature-loving family member!

TURTLE MAGNET W/ TILLANDSIA

Meet our charming magnetic Turtle Magnet with Plant. These durable polystone with a textured shell can cling to any metal surface with its built-in magnet, bringing a touch of coastal vibe wherever it roams. It measures 3.50" x 3.75", has a height of 2" and weighs only .18 lb.

TURTLE ON BASE W/ TILLANDSIA

This whimsical Turtle on Base with Plant features an intricate shell, hand-painted polystone material and provides a cozy nook for a Tillandsia to thrive. It measures 3.25" x 3.25", has a height of 3.25" and weighs only .18 lb.

INDIVIDUAL AIR PLANTS

ARGENTEA THIN

Native to South America, this species of Argentea have very thin and silvery foliage that initially emanate upward from its stemless core before settling down in a rosette shape. When in bloom, this plant's flower rises up taller than the plant itself with red-pink bract and small violet petals. Argentea Thin works well in mimicking spiky "hair" in small decorative planters.

BRACHYCAULOUS ABDITA

Abdita is a fast grower native to Central and South America with long, soft rectangular leaves. It ranges in size from 2-3" on the small end to upwards of 7". Ordinarily a bright green color, Abdita naturally turns a fiery red during inflorescence, which can last from 1 to potentially several months. When blooming, the flowers have violet petals with red/pink bract. Abdita prefers a high amount of indirect light and has an average watering schedule.

Note: We tint this plant during order processing with a reddish color that is safe for the plant to imitate its natural bloom (please advise if you do NOT want us to do so)

BRACHYCAULOUS MINIATA

Native to Central America, Miniata is a Tillandsia variety within the brachycaulos species. It has soft, narrow foliage that starts out a dark green color then transitions to a vibrant red color during blooming. This beautiful rosette plant enjoys bright light and works well in mounting or arrangements.

Note: We tint this plant during order processing with a reddish color that is safe for the plant to imitate its natural bloom (please advise if you do NOT want us to do so)

BRACHYCAULOUS VELUTINA

Native to Central America, Velutina exhibits velvety, olive-green foliage then turns a reddish color during inflorescence, first as a light blush which eventually becomes a deep red. The bloom is short in size and comes from the inside center of the plant and will present purple flowers. Velutina has a brown coloring at its base, which is normal for this species.

Note: We tint this plant during order processing with a wild rose color that is safe for the plant to imitate its natural bloom (please advise if you do NOT want us to do so)

BULBOSA BELIZE

This is the larger form of Tillandsia Bulbosa, reaching up to 6" in length. It grows in many different locations throughout Central America. It has bright green, round-shaped leaves that extend out from the base in random, crooked directions making it resemble a sea creature. Belize Bulbosa are very hardy plants that can be grown horizontally or upside-down when affixed to a sturdy base. When in bloom, the top leaves and inflorescence turns bright red with purple flowers.

BULBOSA GUATEMALAN

This is the smaller form of Tillandsia Bulbosa. It grows in many different locations across Central and South America, the West Indies, and Mexico. Their tubular leaves give them the appearance of miniature sea creatures with tentacles. This smaller form works well in small arrangements or terrariums.

BUTZII

Native to Costa Rica and Mexico, Butzii has a very distinct look that resembles a small fish with a set of long, extravagant tail fins. This plant has no stem and begins with a bulbous body that extends into a series of thin, tubular leaves, all of which is covered with very unique green, grey and black colored speckling. Butzii's slender shape works well in arrangements for height. When in bloom, the spike comes out taller than the plant and displays purple flowers. Butzii prefer a relatively cooler temperature and lower amount of light (for an air plant), although it likes a more frequent watering schedule.

SMALL (S)

MEDIUM (M)

CACTICOLA

Native to Peru. This rare Tillandsia comes in thick and thin leaf forms. Our variety has long, thin light green foliage that has a velvety, soft feel. Cacticola has a relatively large inflorescence made up of many blooms that exceed the plant's actual size. These tall blooms have tiny white flowers with purple edges, accompanied by violet bract. Relative to other air plants, cacticolas prefer a slightly cooler temperature with less light and appreciate a higher than average watering schedule.

CAPITATA PEACH

Capitata Peach is native to Mexico, Honduras, Cuba, and the Dominican Republic. This plant has a rosette shape with soft foliage that turns a beautiful peach color when in bloom. The inflorescence forms in the center of the plant and gives off purple flowers. Capitata Peach is easy to care for and propagates relatively (in less than 9 months).

Note: We tint this plant during order processing with a peach color that is safe for the plant to imitate its natural bloom (please advise if you do NOT want us to do so)

CAPITATA MAROON

Native to Mexico, Cuba, and the Dominican Republic, this variety of capitata can grow to a very large size. As the name implies, its foliage is mostly maroon in color (with occasional green blades). The greater its exposure to light, the deeper the maroon color turns. Capitata Maroon is fast growing and propagates very well. This plant is great as a tall centerpiece for arrangements, and it looks beautiful just standing on its own.

CAPITATA SELECT

Another variety of capitata native to Central America with long, triangular foliage. When in bloom, its olive green color can shift to a darker tone that can go all the way to maroon and may last a good while (up to several months). Capitata Select prefers a high amount of indirect light and has an average watering schedule.

Note: We give this plant a very light tint during order processing that is safe for the plant to imitate its natural bloom (please advise if you do NOT want us to do so) Review description (color) in light of pics...

CAPITATA YELLOW STAR

Yellow Star is a hybrid derived from Capitata Maroon that we developed in-house. It is very unique and rare. Similar to Capitata Maroon, Yellow Star's foliage is very maroon with thick leaves. However, the inner leaves will naturally lighten all the way to a greenish yellow when in bloom and produce purple flowers. This plant is fast growing and propagates well. It is a beautiful specimen piece.

CAPUT MEDUSAE

Originating in Mexico and Central America, the Caput Medusae species has foliage that resembles wild, curling snakes emanating from its bulbous body – an image from which its name is derived. This plant boasts green, silvery leaves and an above-average number of blooms that feature attractive, cherry red bract with purple flower petals. It adds great height to any floral arrangement and is perfect to pair with a shell to create a jellyfish-like display.

MEDIUM (M)

LARGE (L)

DURATII

The Duratii, native to various regions in South America, is one of our favorite air plants. It is one of the very few specimens with fragrant flowers – a true rarity among tillandsia. At its base, its silvery green leaves wrap around the next highest point. Duratii also can grow to a very large size over time, sometimes in excess of 3'. On top of this, it displays an impressive, long-lasting inflorescence that can reach up to 2' in length with small, purple flowers up the stem. This plant prefers a very bright environment.

FASCICULATA

Fasciculata is native to many warm regions in the Americas, from the southern U.S. down through the northern parts of South America. This species of tillandsia branches out into many different plant varieties. Our variety of fasciculata has long, thin and stiff foliage that is light green to silvery in color and has a leathery feel. Inflorescence lasts for months; during this time, the bloom spikes change from yellow, to pink, to cherry red with purple flowers. Fasciculata can grow to a very large size!

FASCICULATA TROPIFLORA

Native to certain islands in the Caribbean, Tropiflora is a large and fast-growing variety of the fasciculata species that we grow in-house. Its foliage is stiff and silvery-grey, but it turns more maroon when exposed to more sunlight. It produces a massive, braided bloom that may last for more than three months. During the bloom process, the spike starts out a yellowish/green color then turns pink and finally a cherry red with purple flowers. Our Tropiflora is very hardy and can withstand direct sunlight and exposure to cold temperatures as low as the mid-40's 'F.

FILIFOLIA

Filifolia is native to the region between central Mexico and Costa Rica. This rosette-shaped plant produces a multi branching spike with purplish-red flowers. While similar to Argentea Thin, Filifolia differs in that its foliage is thinner, slightly longer and green, and it has more leaves creating a fuller appearance. These petite plants work very well in terrariums.

IONANTHA CLUSTER

An Ionantha Cluster consists of a mother Ionantha plant with its offsets still attached (usually around 3 or 4 plants pups). The Clusters may be made up of any type of Ionantha – we usually carry up to 9 varieties of Ionantha, depending on our production focus and availability. These provide a great display on any medium of natural Tillandsia growing “in the wild”. Or the pups can be pulled to begin your next generation of Ionantha.

IONANTHA BRACHYCAULOUS

Ionantha Brac is a hybrid of Brachycaulos Velutina mixed with Ionantha. Originating in Central America, this plant's foliage is made up of long, thin velvety green leaves, which turn a peachy pink color when in bloom. It's flowers are a violet purple without any bract.

Note: We tint this plant during order processing with a peach color that is safe for the plant to imitate its natural bloom (please advise if you do NOT want us to do so)

IONANTHA DRUID

Native to Central America, Ionantha Druid is one of our most unique Ionanthas. Its foliage is a beautiful bright green color with soft leaves. During its bloom, the foliage turns a vibrant yellow and tubular white flowers emerge.

IONANTHA FUEGO

Ionantha Fuego has spiky leaves that sprout directly upwards from its center and stay within a narrow boundary. This plant derives its name from the way the upper part of its foliage changes from a waxy, vibrant green color to a fiery cherry-red color during bloom – it resembles a burning fire! The flowers are tubular and purple.

IONANTHA GUATEMALAN

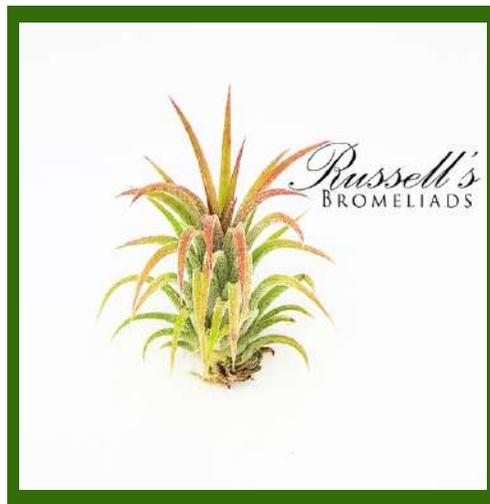

Native to Guatemala, this Ionantha has thin, dense, fuzzy gray-green leaves in a rosette shape. During inflorescence, this plant's foliage transitions to a light pink and then eventually to a reddish red, as purple flowers emerge from center of plant.

IONANTHA MEXICAN

Originating in Mexico as the name implies, Ionantha Mexican has short, thick green leaves that curve downwards at the tips. The plant grows upwards via additional layers of leaves. When in bloom, the top sections of its foliage turns a vibrant red color and tubular, purple flowers with yellow petals emerge. Ionantha Mexican is a fast grower that loves water (above average for a Tillandsia). This variety multiplies relatively fast, so you may enjoy a cluster before you know it!

IONANTHA RUBRA

Native to Mexico and Costa Rica, the Rubra's foliage is greener and thicker than its cousin Ionantha Guatemala. During blooming, this plant's foliage shifts from green to orange to eventually red with purple flowers. Rubra works great for terrariums or as part of air plant frames.

IONANTHA VANHYNINGII

Native to Central America, this is one of the rare Ionantha in our collection. Its foliage has short, thick green leaves that often wave from base to tip. When in bloom, the leaves will blush to a peach color and the plant will emit purple flowers. This Ionantha easily grows into a clump producing many pups.

Note: We tint this plant during order processing with a peach-reddish color that is safe for the plant to imitate its natural bloom (please advise if you do NOT want us to do so)

JUNCEA

Juncea resembles long tufts of thick grass (which, of course, cannot be planted in the ground given this is a Tillandsia). This plant works really well in arrangements or displays when height is needed. While it can eventually reach heights of 2-3+ feet (over years), Juncea is a slow grower, so please select the size you want to enjoy and use now. Juncea's foliage is sage green with hints of silver and a brownish base, which may also be silver in color depending on the plant and how many trichomes it has. Its bloom spike comes out taller than the plant itself with purple flowers.

JUNCIFOLIA

Originating in Central America, Juncifolia also resembles long tufts of grass like Juncea, however the leaves are thinner, softer and more vibrant green color. This plant grows vertically (slowly) to a fairly long length, making it a great addition to arrangements that require some height. The base of the plant is brown and hard.

PLAGIOTROPICA

Plagiotropica has a rosette shape with narrow triangular foliage that is light green to silvery in color. Whereas the center of the plant remains this color, the tips of its leaves turn a purplish hue, especially when watered.

Note: We add tint to this plant during order processing with a purplish color that is safe for the plant. This plant is not offered without tinting.

LARGE (L)

PURPUREA

We love this highly attractive species with its long, thin trichome-rich leaves. Its silvery-green foliage is striking and plentiful, eventually curving downward below the plant. This takes many years, so select the larger sized plant if you wish to have this natural "skirting" in place now.

RESURRECTION PLANT (ROSE OF JERICHO)

Although it is a bare root plant that doesn't require soil, the Resurrection Plant is actually a member of the Selaginella family and not a Tillandsia. We sell this plant in its dormant state, which looks like a small dead clump. It can survive for years in this state with no water! However, once hydrated, the Resurrection Plant opens up and comes back to life, eventually turning green and beginning to grow again!

SELERIANA

Native to Central America, Seleriana is another of our favorites due to its unique shape. This plant has a thick, bulbous base out of which grow thick, fuzzy green leaf tips. It presents a short spike that emits several purple flowers when in bloom. Seleriana is definitely a statement piece for anyone's collection.

STRICTA HYBRID

Aeranthos is our most popular Stricta and is also a cultivar that we have grown out in-house. It is a fast-growing plant that propagates very easily. Our Aeranthos Stricta has semi-stiff green foliage and produces a bold pink bloom just under 4" in length that shoots out small violet petals. This is a very resilient plant that can thrive in either very bright or low light conditions. It prefers warm temperature and an average watering schedule.

Note: We induce our Stricta during order processing; it should arrive with an average bud that should last another 2-4 weeks until its bloom ends. Let us know if you prefer a "low" bud, which may last toward the longer end of this range.

TECTORUM

Native to really arid areas of South America, Tectorum is one of our more rare species of Tillandsia. Given its dense trichome coverage, Tectorum's foliage has soft, fuzzy blades that are a silver to almost white color. Although it is a slow grower, it can reach sizes in excess of 8 inches. During blooming a pink-violet spike will emerge from its center reaching a size taller than plant itself and shooting out purple flowers. Tectorum enjoys bright conditions (indirect light) and is very drought-tolerant.

TRICOLOR

Tricolor has slender, slightly stiff, dark green foliage that are a characteristically dark brown color at their base. This brown base tends to be dry and may look especially dark – this is perfectly normal for this species! During bloom, Tricolor's leaves will turn a vibrant red and a braided yellow spike will come out from the plant's center having violet flowers. These blooms last longer than most air plants. Tricolor makes a beautiful center piece because of its height.

USNEOIDES - 60G

Found across many warmer parts of the Americas, the Usneoides species of Tillandsia is commonly referred to as Spanish moss. However, this variety is very distinct and nothing like what you would see in most places in the wild. Its foliage is much thicker and of a very light green /silvery color.

Note: The 60g clumps weigh at least 2 ounces each, and the 200g clumps weigh just over 7 ounces each; these weights are not exact for each clump.

MOUNTING AND MISC

MOUNTING ADHESIVE E6000 .5 OZ

This is our recommended form of non-toxic glue that is safe for affixing air plants onto most types of containers or mounting, yet strong enough to keep them attached. It does take some time to dry for a full seal – sometimes we wait overnight before putting a new creation “to work.” Each tube is 5 oz.

CARE BROCHURES (100-PACK)

Sold in packs of 100, our care brochure is a 2-sided informational flyer ideal for providing consumers with some general background on tillandsia and useful advice and tips around how to care for and maintain their new air plants. The flyers are sturdy and have a glossy finish on one side and a matte finish on the other.
